Sectional Doors

Sectional doors used in industrial areas open vertically and thus do not occupy space in front of and behind the doors. Door panels are installed in a matter that allows the doors to open vertically, horizontally or running across the ceiling.

Sectional doors stand out with their product variety, excellent design and guaranteed safety.

Industrial doors play an important role in commercial buildings. Therefore they offer huge efficiency and energy saving potential. By replacing your existing doors with these products you can save energy and yield higher efficiencies.

Garage Doors

Garage doors save space by opening vertically and collecting under the ceiling. Thanks to this structure type, the space in front of the garage and the space inside are used in the most efficient way.

Sectional garage doors can be installed at any garage opening and they provide 14 cm more passage width compared to solid single piece doors. In addition, the doors are insulated in the best way possible from all four sides against external environmental factors using long-lasting elastic and weather-resistant sealants.

Fullvision Doors

Fullvision sectional door systems designed for places where appearance is of great importance (such as showrooms) consist of custom made aluminium profiles.

The profiles are designed to interlock while opening and closing the door to prevent fingers from getting jammed in between.

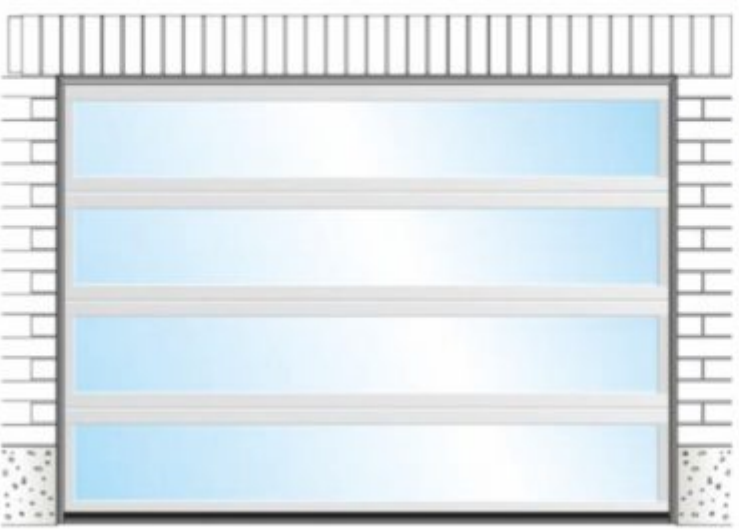

Single or double walled acrylic transparent windows can be installed between the profiles.

The aluminium profiles used can be painted upon request using electrostatic powder paint.
